LA GÜERA'S guide

BRAND GUIDE · NOVEMBER 2026

comer, beber, bailar.

01 · THE IDEA

The friend who always has the reservation.

La Güera's Guide is Ashley's Mexico City: the places she actually sends her friends to, on a map, in her words. It is confident, dry, a little bitchy, never mean, never cutesy.

WHAT IT IS

A guide of places Ashley picked. Not a directory. Not a review site.

HOW IT SOUNDS

First person. Plain, specific, short. One real detail beats three adjectives.

HOW IT LOOKS

Oxblood and pink, checkerboard, a Didot headline, her handwriting. Warm photos.

02 · THE LOGO

LA GÜERA'S, guide.

Wide caps, with guide in script tucked under the right side. The full name is always La Güera's Guide (a possessive). Chosen with Ashley on 2026-11-03. Live in the app as the Wordmark component.

DO

Keep the apostrophe (', the curly one) in the caps line. Use the tones above: dark-on-light, pink-on-dark, or white-on-pink.

DON'T

Don't set "güera's" in script (the apostrophe looks detached). Don't recolor, stretch, outline, add shadows, or write "La Güera Guide" without the 's.

Ashley to confirm: clear space and minimum size are taken from how the app uses the logo (header 20 px type size ≈ 110 px wide; keep clear space of about one cap-height on every side). Not a rule she has set.

Oxblood, rosa, and leche.

Readable pairs (contrast ratio): vino on leche 16.5 · rosa-200 on vino-800 10.6 · vino-700 on leche 12.7 · rosa-600 on rosa-100 4.5. Careful: rosa-500 on vino-800 is only 3.8 and rosa-500 on white 4.1. Use rosa-500 for large type, script, and buttons, never for small body text. Keep neutrals warm and pink-tinted: no yellow cream, no grey.

Everything you read in a paragraph.

Language: English first. Spanish is a short fixed accent list (Mapa, Mi lista, Guardar, Cómo llegar, Vámonos, xo la güera). Don't translate whole labels.

Warm, a little grainy, always 4:5.

One look for the whole app and Instagram: warm white balance, a gentle contrast curve, deeper shadows, a touch more color, fine film grain, a very light vignette. Run `brand/photo-grade/grade.py` on the originals. Output 1080×1350.

- Photos are Ashley's, or ones she pulls from a venue and sends. Credit on every photo: "Photo: La Güera" or the venue's name.
- Originals beat screenshots. Crop out app bars.
- No stock. No agent scraping Instagram.
- For social, keep people out of frame.
- Name a dish only if Ashley confirmed it.

Say the one real thing.

“By far my favorite Italian in town... I’m ordering the prosciutto before I even sit down. Save room for the tiramisu.”

la güera · on Lalo

“Amazing seafood and the biggest steak I’ve seen in Mexico City.”

la güera · on El Silverio

DO

First person (“my favorite”). Plain, specific, short. What to order, when to go, one tip. Only claims that are researched or that Ashley said herself. Sign with xo, la güera only on her own words.

DON'T

No “we” or “our team”. No adjective stacks. No invented dishes or details. No planner talk (“one fixed thing”, “anchor”, “flexible block”, “47 tabs”). No hype (“best ever”), no emoji, no “coming soon”.

07 · INSTAGRAM

@laguerasguide, draft only.

The account is Ashley's. Agents only draft; Ashley approves and posts. Profile picture: the wordmark on oxblood or on pale pink. She is choosing.

- Carousels: full-bleed graded photos, one small account label, name and colonia on the cover, a save line and the address on the last slide. 1080×1350.
- Captions are Ashley's words, or her approved Pick text.
- Less, better: start with a few posts a week, not a daily grind.
- No bought followers, pods, auto-DMs, or tools that ask for her password.

`Full rules: the private repo's social/SOCIAL_GUIDELINES.md. The first carousel to copy is the Lalo one.`
