La Once Mil

“My favorite tacos. They hand you a beer when you walk in, the room is a party, and the Lomas original just earned a Michelin star. No reservations. Expect a line, wait anyway.”

Botánico

“Dinner in a garden, basically: an old Condesa mansion’s courtyard, cacti everywhere. Start with the tuna tostada, then the burger. Honestly, everything here is good.”

Lalo

“By far my favorite Italian in town. Eduardo García turned his Roma brunch staple into a fresh-pasta room with an old-school feel. Get the pasta, save room for the tiramisu.”

El Silverio

“Amazing seafood and the biggest steak I’ve seen in Mexico City. A Condesa tapas bar and asador that runs like a gastronomic pub, which is exactly the point.”

Fernando Montes de Oca 83, Condesa
